The Event of the Year for Fire Protection & Life Safety Professionals

The NFPA Conference & Expo will bring to life the knowledge, experience, products and services you need to design, build, manage and maintain facilities that conform to accepted fire, life safety, electrical, and security codes & standards.

If your work brings you into contact with building codes, fire & electrical codes, or safety & security codes and standards, this event is designed for you.

NFPA C&E is not just for the “coderati”, it’s for everyone concerned with creating a safe environment for the employees, colleagues, students, patients, tenants, customers, etc., who occupy the buildings they are responsible for.

This event offers professional development, cutting-edge education, professional certification, networking opportunities, and a world-class exposition featuring hundreds of industry-leading suppliers.
